3rd Indo-European Research Colloquium
Department of Linguistics, University of Vienna
April 20 – April 21, 2017

First Circular

The third Indo-European Research Colloquium will take place at the Department of Linguistics, University of Vienna from Thursday, April 20, to Friday, April 21, 2017.

The goal of the Indo-European Research Colloquium has always been to provide young scholars (graduate students and recent post-docs) with a platform to present and discuss their work, and to exchange ideas and opinions within a friendly and welcoming environment. In order to encourage submissions from all areas of Indo-European studies, we have again decided not to set a specific theme for the conference.

Colleagues interested in presenting at the Colloquium are asked to send an abstract in accordance with the usual standards (max. 500 words) in PDF-format no later than December 31, 2016 to the following address:
